Mad Love by Suzanne Selfors was a quick, cute read. A good mix of mystery, romance and real life issues with a little mythology mixed in. The book held my interest through out but I never really connected with the characters. I like how this book tackles the real life problem of bipolar depression.

Mad Love by Suzanne Selfors - Goodreads

I liked that - that Suzanne Selfors didn't make a big deal about it, making it seem totally normal. Most of the time with cross cultural romance, that's one of the central themes of the book, which to me, makes it still seem different. But with having one and not drawing attention to it, I thought Ms. Selfors showed it in a positive and normal way.

Mad Love is the first book I've ever read by Suzanne Selfors. She has written a few others, Coffeehouse Angel being the title I most recognize. I haven't read it and not sure if I would search it out. This book is really a bit odd for me as a reader. It has touches of the otherworldly but it is supposedly grounded in real life.
